

Name of organization: WWF (World Wide Fund for Nature)

1. Is it an intergovernmental organization (acting between governments) or non-governmental organization (acting independently from any government)?

Intergovernmental Organization

2. What are its main aims?

To make a harmony between human beings and wild animals

3. How does it accomplish these aims?

- × Protected lands to preserve the population of wild animals
- ✓ Strict law on endangered animals
-

Isaiah, Jonas, Tiffany

Name of organization: GREEN PEACE

1. Is it an intergovernmental organization (acting between governments) or non-governmental organization (acting independently from any government)?

Canadian, non-governmental
↑
yet worldwide

2. What are its main aims?

Climate Change, forests, oceans, agriculture, toxic pollution, nuclear, peace and disarmament

3. How does it accomplish these aims?

Make sure emissions peak in 2015 and decrease rapidly

Protect tropical forests with special funding mechanism

Replace dirty fossil fuel energy with renewable energy

Reject false solutions like nuclear energy

Ecological Farming

Name of organization: IUCN (International Union for Conservation of Nature)

1. Is it an intergovernmental organization (acting between governments) or non-governmental organization (acting independently from any government)? IUCN is an intergovernment organization, although it has 900+ NGOs as member organizations.

↳ It is funded by government

2. What are its main aims?

Conserving biodiversity is central to the mission of <sup>IUCN</sup>~~IUCN~~. They demonstrate how biodiversity is fundamental to addressing some of the world's greatest challenges: tackling climate change, achieving sustainable energy, improving human well-being and building a green economy.

3. How does it accomplish these aims?

• Every activity is framed by a Global Programme every 4 years

↳ 5 priority areas of work

↳ Biodiversity, climate change, sustainable energy, human well-being, and green economy

Research

Conserving land

Knowledge

Helping government

↳

Name of organization:

1. Is it an intergovernmental organization (acting between governments) or non-governmental organization (acting independently from any government)?

They are an intergovernmental organization.

It is government.

2. What are its main aims?

To protect our ecosystems and atmosphere.

3. How does it accomplish these aims?

It covers wide range of issues: atmosphere, marine and terrestrial ecosystems.

Working on the development and implementation of policy with national governments.

Scientific research.